

Holly Leaf

by Marian Jackson MDA

Painted with Faber Castell Polychromos pencils. Video at <http://coloredpencilclasses.com>

My usual brand of pencil is Prismacolor but I wanted to experiment with the Polys to learn the differences. They are very smooth, blend nicely and have a nice color range. I miss the very darks in the Prismas but I wanted this to be pure Polys. Coverage is different due to the translucency of the FC Polys, so many layers are necessary.

Pencils used:

1. Green Gold - 268
2. Ivory - 105
3. Olive Green Yellowish 175
4. Chromium Oxide Opaque - 174
5. Indian Red - 192
6. Pine Green - 267
7. Dark Indigo - 157
8. Dark Sepia - 175
9. Cold Grey II - 251

In my notes I have Chromium Oxide Green but I'm not sure where I used it. It might be on the video.

You may substitute any color you have. These are not absolute. Just be sure they are roughly the same value. The larger size leaf was much more fun to paint as so much more detail could be added.

Enjoy!

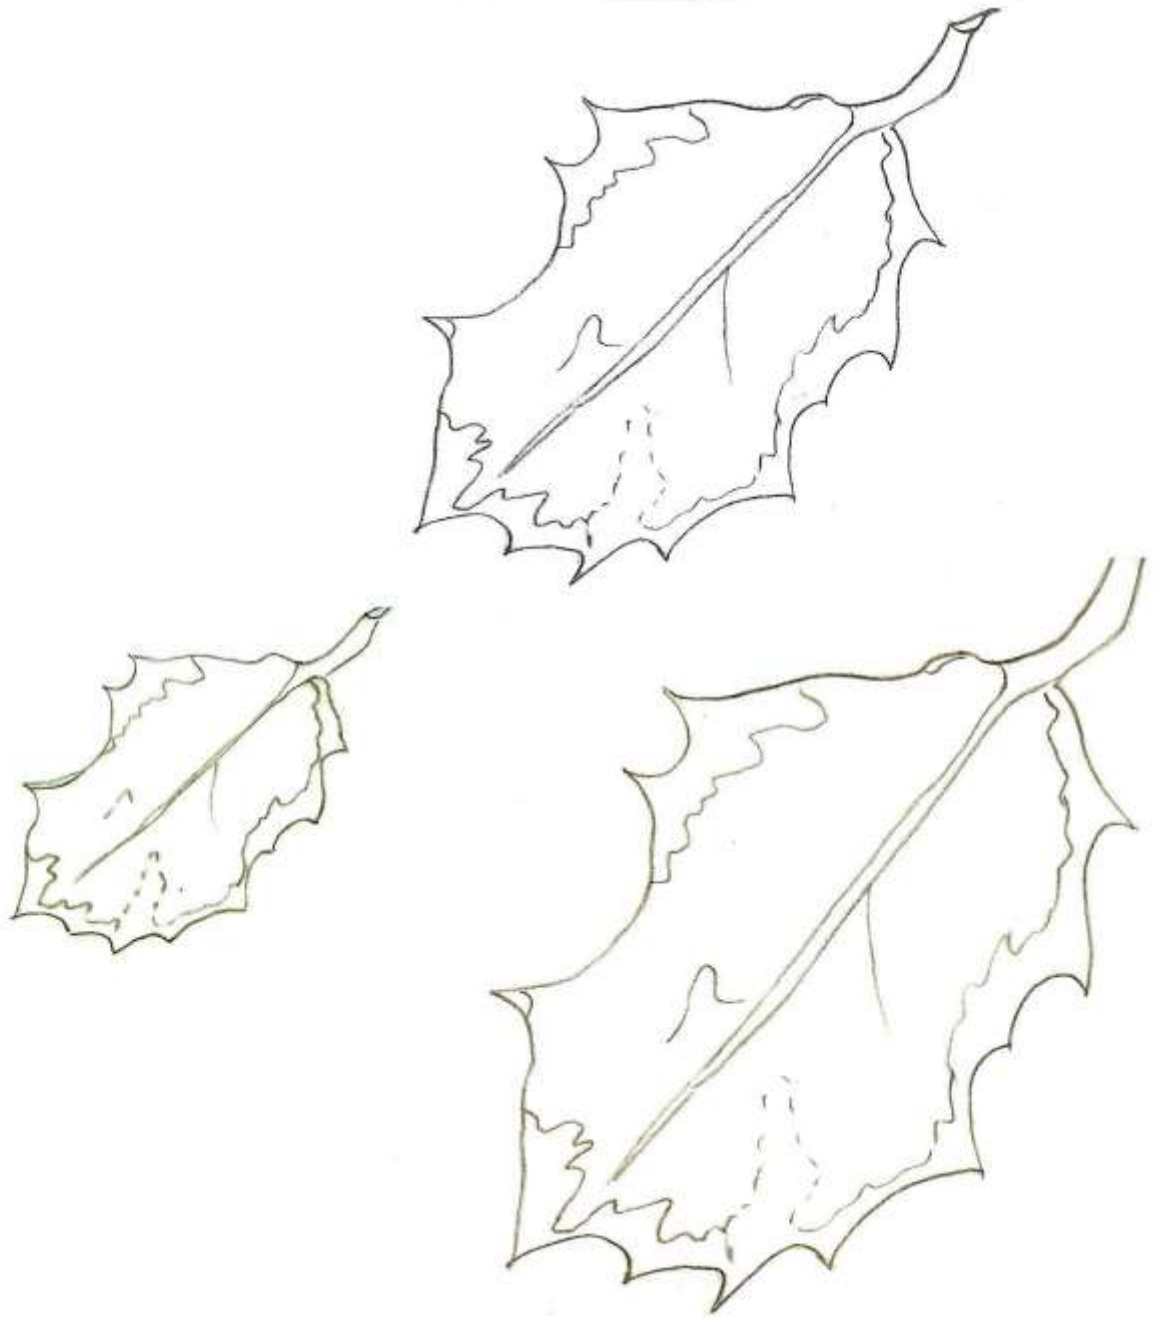

Strathmore Vellum
Faber Castell Polychromos

Stonehenge White
Faber Castell Polychromos

[Type here]

Copyright: This is a public online video class. It may be used for personal painting or shared but may not be taught without permission. Original Photograph courtesy of Paul Aileen Kodor.

[Type here]